SAILING CONDITIONS / RACING AREAS

Cascais has proven over the years to have some of the best conditions for yacht racing in Europe. Typically the wind ranges from light to low twenties knots and from different quarters over the period of the Winter Series. With less than half an hour to reach any of the main racing areas, Cascais offers varied sailing conditions, with flat water and shifter winds closer in the bay and larger ocean swells with more stable wind patterns further out west. The weather is usually warm with long sunny spells and an air temperature ranging from minimum 12/15°C in winter to 20°C + in the fall and early Spring.
